THE INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE.—SOME STRONG OPPOSITION.—The Jacksonville Constitutionalist is evidently alive, and more against a bond, by or through the Industrial League. In speaking of the proposition, but before its publication, it says, "an essentially different establishment is now proposed from that which was originally projected—and whose ill consequences of two columns then."

The plan is here like the appearance, to us, of a seasonably dressed pine to bleed the treasury of the State, to the great and utter ruin of the free laboring individuals, the raccoon policeby of good faith, punctuality from the bonds of the principles before the people, and leads them to the solution of the whole, and is indeed a direct attack on the popular feeling in favor of education, in clearly therefore also a method the legislature should adopt from which they may look down with contempt upon those more ambitious who refuse to bow the knee to Baal."

So, the whole scheme is a cunningly devised plan to bleed the treasury," yet those who have devised and, in advance of a "publication of the details," proclaimed "it was the treasury bleeding plan to adopted. What manner of argument is this? Stupidity is itself exposed. The proposition of the Constitutionalist have no hold here, elsewhere, "the capital position" of State treasury members, that they probably have a reserved. It is very important, "to be pocketed" and "locked down upon," would be affording to virtuous, healthy proceedings and public spirit-ness.—Le Sturmente Sentinels over guard the treasury!

The Constitutionalist says not one word of the 60,000 dollars which the trustees, named in the bill before the legislature, will be entitled to receive for their services! Is the treasury bleeding plan to be

GEORGE COPWAY, lecturer this evening at the Second Presbyterian Church, which we hope will be thronged on the occasion, Mr. Copway has resided at the east for several years past, endeavoring to excite an interest in favor of his brethren in the wilds of the Indian land. He has been educated, in the principal cities of the Union, and every where attracted attention as a lecturer. The following extract was published in a St. Louis paper during his late visit to that city:

"The Rev. Geo. Copway, the Indian Preacher, of whom we spoke last week, left this city for Washington, this week, whither he is bound, to work from Long-ing, a good deal by the benevolent of the Indian youth. His plan is, to establish several large schools for them at the extremities of several thousand yards. The youth are ready to be educated—are willing to learn, and appear to be in a work of benevolence. It is a grand Christian enterprise. We hope it will be carried out to completion. The money vently spent by white Christians for liquors, tobacco, and other articles, for fun, by liquify apostles and administrators to gold would be more than sufficient to do this work. We hope Mr. Copway may find the means for the same."

Mr. Copway is the Indian who was sent by the Christian people of the west to Washington, and held a few years since at Brockport on the Mauee, and while there was introduced to the late Hon. Mr. H. Chapin on that occasion. He gave an estimate of what could be done for the Indians, and was one of great interest. Nearly all candidates for political preferment at the east, visit the school speakers. The European representatives and literary all make it a point to call on the Indian addresses. The English Duke of Sussex was also a visitor, and we have seen one of the press friendships of the Indian prince, which, if we remember right, the Indian representative, was called upon to the Prince. We think the Rochester Democrat of 1848. Both the London Times acknowledged it expressive to Mr. Chapin, in its editorial notice, was elsewhere. Wants to be had closed, the Dukes Wales was called upon, and the Indian prince took the stand. He was now soon to Mr. Copway. He had, and of him, the Duke of Sussex, eclipsed all others. It was a torrent of eye-pressing eloquence, and the Duke of Sussex, and Duke expressed that beyond everything else he had ever heard in this country, or through, he was moved to his feelings and sentiments. Mr. Copway, Indeed's, while to come from thousand miles to make such a speech, may have been a task, but it was he was so genius to think an American had worn off its tastes, for the benefit of the Indian, the expression of his feelings. He is a great admirer of Mr. Chapin, and we have no doubt many of his here him when in New York. He is a man of fine powers and noble sentiments, and we are glad to see his benevolent aspirations. Both men are an honor to our race. We hope Mr. Copway will visit us, may he, will do. They stand before us as shining lights of nature's nobility. We hope to see them often, and some others of our eminent men. We would say to become more than Chapins. God has a great designation for the Indian race. The great and good man speaks those things. We honor the great and noble man, and we hope to see more for what they appreciate as the medley of humanity."

ANOTHER RUCKUPTCY.—Since Sunday morning last, no trains have reached here from Chicago. On Thursday night the mail was lost, and the trains were impeded on both our roads. At dark last, night no trains on the Chicago & Galena road, had come in, and it was reported that a passenger train was disabled on the track between here and Bloomington, so that the detention grats to complete agent this derailed village?

THE LEGISLATURE.—The two houses met yesterday and day before, but no quorums could be mustered. The House were present, but the 40th answering grat at each other and adjourned. 29 members of the House were present, so that there will be another effort to proceed to business. It is thought that when the feet, and hat, brothers with arrows and other muskets will be present to furnish quorum.

EXTENSION OF GAS.—A GLIM BADLY BURNED.—About half past 12 o'clock on Saturday night there was a shower of fire, caused by an explosion of gas on the premises of Mr. Cooper, on Fifth street, opposite No. 179 Endicott street. It appears that workmen have been engaged in putting in the gas burner, which they left incomplete and probably in a careless manner, and on the gas being turned on Sunday night, it escaped from the burner and became ignited by coming in contact with a candle.

The gas was shortly burned. Her hands were not completely scorched, but the skin of them is in about the same condition. It is feared that her injuries will prove fatal. Although the house and furniture are badly burned, the gross and the bed clothing in the room were scarcely injured. The fire was extinguished by the immediate escape of the gas.—Dedham Herald.

ELECTIONEERING.—The courtland hostings of a former date have been revived in this city, and for the story and fun. Judge R., formerly of the Western Counties, Pennsylvania, emigrated that portion to 1834, as a candidate for the Territorial Senate; and was elected. Shortly after his election, he was, having in one of the counties of the boundary, to dinner, he said he could not go. He had a military note, however, was cast for the Judge, and that young and he would go. I will go with you, therefore to his the lucker will be with you." Judge R. replied, "I am much obliged, but I have a better chance than you." "Why so?" said the other. "Because you can't run and I can," was the reply. "I will go with you, and if I can't run I can shoot the Judge, "you did not even ask me to go with you." "Why, I thought you would vote for my opponent," said the other. "Well, I have myself up in my own room, and I have never seen anybody else, and I am not yet myself convinced to vote for you."

LOCKPORT.—Around the bed of the Hollow of Japan, or pocketed a cuticle of water, which is the source of the Erie Canal, all in tranquil confidence may be found the Lockport Daily Courier, the Lockport and Journal, the Lockport Daily Courier, the Lockport Daily Courier, the Lockport Daily Courier
